

Stand Up Bingo v1.0

SOFTWARE GUIDE

Please note, Stand Up Bingo does not require the player consoles or master control box to be plugged in.

Running the Stand Up Bingo Software

- Turn on your PC.
- Install the gaming software on the supplied CDROM.
- Double Left click on the 'Stand Up Bingo' application icon.
- Wait approximately 5 seconds for the gaming software to load.

How is Stand Up Bingo played?

Stand Up Bingo is a game where you sell numbered tickets (2 tickets minimum, 999 tickets maximum) to members of the audience. All participants are asked to 'stand up' and this software is then used to display giant numbers (at random) on the screen.

If a player's number is shown then they will need to sit down and are out of the game.

Of course, if you decide to sell more than 1 ticket to a person then they will not be out of the game until their final numbered ticket comes up.

The winner of the game is literally the last man / woman standing.

Entering Total Tickets sold

For example, if you have sold 25 tickets then enter 25 when prompted.

Then press the Return key.

The introduction screen will then appear as follows...

To begin the game you should left click once using your wireless pointer/mouse OR press a key.

A randomly generated number will then appear, for example...

At this point, whoever holds the number 8 ticket will have to sit down and will be out of the game. Of course, if they hold more than 1 ticket then they will still be in the game and will therefore not need to sit down.

To proceed to the next randomly generated number you should left click once using your wireless pointer/mouse OR press a key.

How To Check if a Number has been Called or Not

During the game, to check that a number has (or hasn't) been called you can press the C key at any time (pressing the lowercase c key will also work).

At the prompt, enter the number you wish to check and then press the Return key. The software will then tell you whether that number has been called or not. After a few seconds, you will then be returned to the normal bingo screen.

The Winner's Screen

When it's time for the final number to be called then the winner's screen will appear...
